

ACTIVITY 3.1: ANTICIPATION GUIDE

Are the following statements true or false in Canada?

Statement	True/False
If you are 16 or older and a Canadian citizen, you can vote in government elections.
You can contact your government official in any language you choose. They must be able to communicate with you.
You have the right to say anything you want, even if it is not respectful.
You can move to any province or territory in search of a new job or better life.
If you commit a crime, you will have to wait a very long time until your trial.
It is possible that you will not be hired for a job because of your religion.
You have the right to join a rally, hold up signs, and make lots of noise for an issue you believe in.
You have the right to go to any school you want, regardless of the language you speak and the language of the school.
The media can report on anything at all that happens in Canada.
You will be considered innocent if you are accused of a crime.	